Mr. Hall has indicated that the great difficulty is in the state of mind that has grown up, which seems to form almost an insurmountable barrier between the managements and the men. This can be broken down, however, if the problem is tackled in a large way. The men themselves realize the seriousness of the situation, although they indicate that the first move in improving conditions must come from the other side. They say quite frankly, If the management shows it has confidence in us we will meet it more than half way. VICE-PRESIDENT JONES--Mr. C. H. Stein, General Manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. BY MR. C. H. STEIN, GENERAL MANAGER, C. R. R. OF N. J. I feel if I attempted to say what has been running through my mind during the course of the...
