Each told again to each varied incidents of battle-life. Each in turn drew from the rest the soldier's merry laugh and ready compliment, the warm encomium for the brave living, and the tender eulogium and blessing of the brave dead. At a few minutes of three o'clock the comrades formed at the New Haven House, and marched to the place of rendezvous - the Music Hall. Here they found the spacious galleries already filled to the farthest limit with eager and interested spectators, of whom fully three-fourths were the fair women of New Haven. The hall was tastefully and appropriately decorated. The main floor having been reserved for the members of the society, the stage was provided with accommodations for the officers and prominent members of the society, and a few invited guests. The hall is estimated to accommodate two thousand persons, and it was packed in every part. The most unreserved enthusiasm pervaded the scene - the spectators uniformly - the ladies notably - participating in honors and applause to the soldiers. Every face was bright and glad, and everybody was, or seemed to be, happy. Soon after the comrades had seated themselves, President Grant, accompanied by...
