The wife is burdened with an underlying sense of guilt because she cannot forget she murdered her mother when she was a child. As a result of her guilt she always strives to do what is right but overlooks the rest of her family s reckless behavior because she s uncertain she owns the moral high ground. Her older daughter has unknowingly married a bisexual man and is about to give birth to his baby. She becomes increasingly aware and unhappy with her situation but is trapped by the rapidly approaching birth of their child. The older married son struggles with an unstable, turbulent marriage that somehow remains unshakable. The handsome, crafty teenage younger son comes of age bereft of any sense of morality, judgment or responsibility. The younger twelve-year old daughter is involved in prurient activities that finally place the entire community in an unwelcome spotlight. The family, their relatives and friends struggle with personal turmoil against the background of seemingly placid small-town life. There is a volatile mixture of irony, tragedy, humor and pathos that finally lead to unexpected consequences. On a broader canvas, the story involves the panorama of provincial life in the West with its pro forma neighborliness and instinctive intolerance and the self-limiting goals of its inhabitants and their desperate attempts to transcend them.
