

Allocation of Scarce Resources During Mass Casualty Events: Evidence ReportTechnology Assessment Number 207

By U. S. Department of Health and Human Services

Createspace. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 306 pages. Dimensions: 11.0in. x 8.5in. x 0.7in. Most experts define a mass casualty event (MCE) as a natural (e. g. , earthquake, pandemic) or manmade (e. g. , detonation of a nuclear device, conventional explosive, bioterror attack) incident that suddenly or progressively generates large numbers of injured and/or ill people who require medical and/or mental health care. The magnitude of demand for medical care resources has the potential to vastly outstrip the ability of a health care facility or a local, regional, or national public health and health care delivery system to deliver medical care services consistent with generally established standards of care. The scope and complexity of an MCE can severely challenge even the most highly experienced and well-equipped health care providers and systems. By definition, an MCE generates a level of demand for health care resources that outstrips available supply. Under those circumstances, local and regional health care providers are unable to meet victims' needs at the level normally expected of a modern health care delivery system. Because such situations are difficult to predict and can occur with little or no warning, health care systems and...
